**Please complete the pre-event survey at the bottom of the before or after enrolling.

The screenshot shows a web interface for a conference registration page. At the top, there is a search bar and navigation icons. The main heading is "2021 Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Conference - Native American History & Culture of Oregon Tribes". Below the heading, the date is "Monday, September 13", the time is "9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.", and the presenter is "David G. Lewis, PhD". A paragraph of text describes David G. Lewis, PhD, as a member of the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde, descended from the Santiam, Chinook and Takelma tribes. It mentions his research on tribal histories and his role as director of the Southwest Oregon Project Collection at the University of Oregon. Below this is a "Session Synopsis" section, which describes a survey of tribal history from Oregon, addressing traditional culture, changes made by tribes, and the effects of settlers. The synopsis also mentions the removal of tribes, spread of diseases, treaties, and treatments of the tribes by settlers. The survey will follow the tribes into the 20th century, addressing additional challenges including termination and restoration. There is a "Session Takeaways" section with three bullet points: "Insights into the traditional culture of the tribes of Oregon.", "Challenges to tribes as they encountered colonization by American settlers.", and "The longer history of the tribes as they were terminated in the 1950s and restored in the 1980s." On the right side of the page, there is a sidebar with a header "Oregon Statewide DIVERSITY EQUITY & INCLUSION Conference Planning Committee". Below the header is a blue "Enroll" button. Underneath, there are sections for "Lessons" (1) and "Delivery Mode" (In-Person). There is also a "CONTACTS" section with a profile picture of Eric Engelson, labeled "Eric Engelson Contact Person", and a "Show All (3)" link. At the bottom of the sidebar, there is a "Save" button.

2021 Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Conference - Native American History & Culture of Oregon Tribes

Date: Monday, September 13
Time: 9:00 a.m. – 10:30 a.m.
Presenter: David G. Lewis, PhD

David G. Lewis, PhD, is a member of the Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde, descendent from the Santiam, Chinook and Takelma tribes. David has engaged in research on the tribal histories of Northwest Coastal peoples, specializing in the Western Oregon Tribes. David served as the director of the Southwest Oregon Project Collection at the University of Oregon, and was the Culture Department manager of the Grand Ronde Tribe for 8 years. David has a PhD in anthropology from the University of Oregon and teaches full time in Anthropology and Native Studies at Oregon State University. David's research essays about the histories of the tribes are published on the blogsite ndnhistoryresearch.com.

Session Synopsis

A survey of tribal history from Oregon addressing tribal traditional culture and changes made by tribes as the area was settled. The effects settlers had on tribal culture will also be addressed, including; the removal of tribes, spread of diseases, treaties and treatments of the tribes by settlers. The survey will follow the tribes into the 20th century addressing additional challenges including termination and restoration.

Session Takeaways

- Insights into the traditional culture of the tribes of Oregon.
- Challenges to tribes as they encountered colonization by American settlers.
- The longer history of the tribes as they were terminated in the 1950s and restored in the 1980s.

Dear Eric Engelson

You have been enrolled into the following course:

Course: 2021 Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Conference - Community Engagement & Equity During the COVID Response

Start Date and Time: Tue, Sep 14, 10:15 AM Pacific Time (Los Angeles)

End Date and Time: Tue, Sep 14, 11:15 AM Pacific Time (Los Angeles)

Locations/Webinar URL: TBD

Course Description:

Date: Tuesday, September 14

Time: 10:15 a.m. - 11:15 a.m.

Presenter: Dolly England

Dolly is a long time SW Washington resident and graduate of Evergreen State College, located in Olympia, WA. She has over 15 years of experience in community health, working as a health educator providing outreach and education around HIV/AIDS, reproductive health and chronic disease management. In 2018, Dolly joined the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) as the Reproductive Health Access Coordinator. By March 2020, she began doing community engagement work for the OHA's COVID Response team and later that year transitioned to developing the response team's Community Engagement Team, which supports 180 Community Based Organizations across the state of Oregon to provide outreach and community engagement, contact tracing and wraparound support services to people in isolation and quarantine.

As a result of Dolly's community organizing experience, as well as her deep understanding of the important role of community in the change process, she was appointed by Washington State Governor, Jay Inslee, to the Washington State Commission on African American Affairs, where she served as the Commissioner for SW Washington until November 2017. Additionally, Dolly has previously worked as an HIV Case Manager in SE Alaska, and spent 3 years as the Vice President of the Vancouver NAACP.

Session Synopsis

The Community Engagement Program was able to create a team on the foundations of equity and community engagement. The program then recruited over 170 Community Based Organizations to provide Contact Tracing, Wraparound Support Services and Outreach and Engagement to community members during the COVID-19 pandemic. This is the story of how you CAN center around equity and community, even during a global pandemic.

Session Takeaways

Understanding of OHAs commitment to community engagement.

Examples of how to engage community in caring, accessible and equitable ways.

Tools for developing outreach plans.
